A STITCH IN TIME.

It started with the black and white exhibition last year. I was going through with my Uncle Mark, and we stopped in front of a picture labeled "The Chemist," and I asked uncle what he thought of it. I had been working down at the School of Mines myself for the past month, but had said nothing about it to Uncle Mark.

"I hate the sight of all of them." cried the old gentleman, irascibly. "Since my aunt eloped with a young whipper-snapper of an apothecary's clerk, thirty years ago, and brought disgrace to our family, I feel my fingers itch to destroy all their drugs and vilainous compounds. I heard you talking last summer about taking up something of the kind, Mark, and if you had you'd have been ten thousand dollars poorer than you will be now. I'd not have left you a cent, sir—not a penny, sir. The Hepworths have always been gentlemen, and I should be sorry, sir, to see one of them become a syrup-mixer."

"But, uncle, there is a great deal of difference between a chemist and a drug store clerk. Every great scientific man must understand chemistry, and even if——"

"Don't you tell me, sir. I know 'em all, sir. These chemists are all alike, sir!"

"Well," I replied, meekly giving in, "why didn't you say something to me about it at the time." Then, fearful lest he might find me out, I added: "I might have gone on and become a chemist for all you said about it then."

"I don't want to influence you, Mark. You can go and do as you please for anything I shall say. I have no authority over you, and don't want any. Only, I didn't intend to leave my money to any apothecary, sir."

This was pleasant, to say the least! I firmly resolved to leave the school of mines instanter. I had taken it up on the sly, intending to surprise my friends by the discovery of a new metal or some such exploit. I always washed my hands in weak acid before leaving the laboratory, and changed my clothes and had hitherto gone on undetected. So I felt I was safe if I stopped.

"By the way, Uncle," I said, "think I shall go into business. Can you recommend me to any one of your business acquaintances? I should like to commence as soon as possible."

Uncle Mark looked very much pleased.

"That's right, my boy; that's right. I'll see what I can do for you. Meanwhile, I see pretty Miss McGregor over there, and I would be cruel to keep you away from her any longer, so, au revoir, Mark. Come and dine with me this evening," and the kind old gentleman slipped off in a moment.

I instantly shot into the next room to Miss McGregor's side. She also was standing there looking at "The Chemist."

"Well, Miss Flora," I said "what do you think of it?"

She turned quickly and stretched out her hand.

"Good-morning, Hepworth," she cried smiling.

"You were not at all startled?" I said, holding her hand—such a sweet little hand, that it was a positive pain to let go—"and yet you did not hear me come up?"

"No," said she, letting her hand still lie in mine; "but it seemed so natural to have you standing there," and then she suddenly blushed, and drew her hand out of my vigorous grasp. "That is," she added, "I mean that—that I—"

"She was growing rosily red, so I came to her rescue.

"You mean, Miss Flora," I said, with a faint attempt at jocoseness, "that I have inflicted myself on you so much lately that you have come to look on me as an inevitable, although tiresome incubus. Well, I admit that I have haunted your steps very much lately, and if it annoys you, you must send me packing. I don't wonder that you become awfully bored."

"I did not mean that, Mr. Hepworth," she said, hastily.

"Miss Flora, my name is not Mr. Hepworth," I interrupted.

She looked at me a little astonished.

"Your name is not Mr. Hepworth?"

"No. That is, not to you. My name is Mark, Miss Flora, if you please."

"But I don't please," she said, with a pleasant little laugh. "That is—not yet. Why, I have only known you for a half-year! But to change the subject, are you going to Mrs. De Morris Brown's next Tuesday night?"

"I haven't been asked that I know of," said I, sadly. "I don't know Mrs. Brown."

"But your uncle could get you an invitation if you wish one. I am going."

"Miss Flora, I shall be there if I have to ask Mrs. Brown myself for a card. But I see your mother is looking anxiously for you. Shall I take you to her? Till Tuesday night, then, au revoir."

"Good-bye," she said, and then, as she saw her mother's back turned, "Mark."

"I shall thank you for that Tuesday night," I said, laughing.

After the McGregors had driven off I started to go down to Uncle Mark's, but concluded to take a farewell visit to the laboratory. I had become quite attached to the place, and felt quite a pang at the idea of giving up my "mangoo-mixing." I decided to make one more analysis, and then give it up forever.

That evening at dinner Uncle Mark said:

"I spoke to Mr. Share about you, Mark. You know the firm, best brokerage business in the city; Share, Ticker & Co. I told him you would see him at Mrs. De Morris Brown's on Tuesday night, and you could speak for yourself."

"Unluckily, Uncle, I haven't been invited to Mrs. De Morris Brown's."

"You haven't? Well, I'll get you a card. Mrs. Brown will let me have one."

On Tuesday I finished my analysis, but I had to work till pretty late. I hurried to my room and commenced to dress. I looked at my reflection in the glass and started. I had forgotten to wash my hands in acid before leaving the laboratory and they were colored like a rain bow. I was rather frightened, but I hadn't time to go back to the laboratory, and as to staying away from Mrs. De Morris Brown's when Flora and Old Share were to be there—impossible. I looked at my hands. The stains were pretty bad (my forefinger looked like a well-used, unscraped palette), but they did not extend above my wrist. My gloves would hide them. I looked at the clock. I was late already, so I hurried on the rest of my things and started to pull on my gloves. As I jerked them on I heard a suspicious crack. I examined the tear, but flattered myself it wouldn't show, and hurried into the cab, and was soon in the gentleman's cloak-room at Mrs. Brown's.

I found Uncle Mark waiting for me.

"Ah, Mark," he growled, "I thought you were never coming. Fifteen minutes late! You'll never get on with Mr. Share unless you're punctual. Punctuality and neatness are his two great hobbies, and if you run against either you can make up your mind to stay on his black-book forever. Come down and I'll present you to Mrs. Brown."

After the presentation, Uncle Mark looked around the room.

"I don't see Share," he said, "but there is Miss McGregor, and you can talk to her until I find him."

I went over to Flora. She was talking to Lieutenant Evans, a confounded idiot who was always hanging about her, and hadn't sense enough to see that she disliked him.

"Well, Miss Flora, I obtained the card, as you see. Good evening, lieutenant; have you seen General Sherman?"

"No. Is he here to-night? said Evans, starting up.

"I think I saw him in the ballroom," said I, and when Evans went in that direction I said: "Now Miss Flora, let us gain the conservatory before he comes back," and I hurried her toward the door through which the dark green palms beckoned so enticingly. I went too fast, however, for I struck my foot against a vine or something and I went down on the walk. I put out my hand to break my fall. and did, somewhat, but that confounded rip in my glove extended now down the right side of my right hand to my thumb.

Flora stood there laughing vigorously.

"I can't help it," she apologized. "Just when you were gloating over your wicked deception of Lieutenant Evans, to have retribution overtake you so well. It is so ridiculous that I have to laugh."

I arose, a little sulky, and rather flurried by the accident to my glove, but I didn't succeed very well. That was Flora's great fault. She laughed altogether too easily. However, I changed the subject and we walked along, talking about the black and white exhibition and the various pictures, meritorious and otherwise. I kept my right hand with the injured glove, in my pocket.

"Miss McGregor—Flora," I said suddenly, "I promised to thank you for calling me 'Mark.' When you called me 'Mark' it was all I could do to keep from throwing myself at your feet and telling you how much I loved you. 'Dear Flora,' and I took her soft little hand in my two big ones, "you know I love you heartily, with all my soul, since I first saw you. Whenever I have looked into your sweet, glowing eyes, I have tried to find some sign that you loved me, that my love could call forth a little in return. My darling little love, let me see them now and perhaps—"

She had cast her eyes down demurely when I began, and her face was wreathed in blushes, but now she interrupted me with a hearty peal of laughter, and her eyes were riveted on her hand so secure in mine. I followed her glance. Oh horrors! That confounded glove! The empty kid forefinger dangled down, and my discolored rainbow-hued finger protruded prominently with the spotless glove as its background. I stood there glaring with rage, when the voice of Lieutenant Evans broke in on us.

"I've found you at last, Miss Flora. This is our waltz. What is the joke? Cawn't you let me enjoy it, too. Mr. Hepworth is an awful wag, I know."

How I got away I don't know, but as I was trying to elbow my way to the cloak-room, an elderly gentleman planted himself in front of me and said:

"This is Mr. Hepworth, isn't it? Your uncle recommended you to me and asked me to speak to you about a place in our office. I am Mr. Bernard Share," and he held out his hand to me gravely.

Reluctantly I drew that hideous hand from behind me and shook hands with him. This was the man who insisted on neatness! He started at the sight of the spotted finger, of course, and I tried to explain the matter nonchalantly by saying:

"Don't think I have small-pox, or have been putting my finger in a paint-pot. The fact is, I left the laboratory late this afternoon, too late to remove some chemicals which I spilled on my hand, and a split in my glove has disclosed what I flattered myself I could keep hidden."

"Yes, you young scoundrel, you have been hiding it a long while," said a voice behind me. Uncle Mark, of course; he had come up to introduce me, and had overheard me. "Share, I withdraw my recommendation of this young man, as I am now convinced that he is a liar, and a sneak;" then turning to me he said: "And I wish you to understand, sir, that I am no relative of your's after this. I have no nephew. You hear me, Share, I don't know the young man."

"I had already decided that he would not do for me," replied Mr. Share.

I got away from that miserable place as soon as I could, and I have decided not to leave the laboratory, in fact, chemistry is the only thing left for me now since I lost a legacy, a place in business, and the girl I loved, and all by a ripped glove!—Washington Hatchet.

Anecdote of Senator Sumner.

Senator Sumner took quite an interest in me, and had an especial fondness of catching me by the ears. Often have I attempted to pass the senator, while he was walking to and fro on the floor of the senate, only to have both my ears seized good naturedly, and to be asked some kindly question. I shall always remember one of these adventures—for it was an adventure! He had sent me on an erraad. Having returned, reported to him the answer, and received his deep-voiced thanks, I started to move away, but he had caught me, and continued his slow march, I in front, Indian file. As he was a tall man and I a very small boy in comparison, I had to walk on tip-toe to ease the pain, and even then it seemed as if my ear would come off my head. The worst of it was that he at once became so lost in thought that he forgot he had hold of me and mechanically paced up and down, with his long strides, while I danced a wild war dance, for a few minutes—it seemed to me hours—to the intense amusement of all who observed it. The more I struggled the more did I increase the agony, but I at last managed to wriggle away from his grasp. The sudden emptiness of his hands caused him to realize the state of affairs, and he begged my pardon so energetically, and the spectators smiled so audibly, that the proceedings of the senate were interrupted and Mr. Colfax actually had to tap with his gavel to restore order. But it was, after all, an honor to be noticed, even in that fashion, by so distinguished a man as Senator Summer. He had the widest reputation of all the senators, and the first question most visitors to the senate would ask was: "Which is Charles Sumner?"

There are twenty millions of people in Austro-Hungary who never read a newspaper.

RUNNING THE BLOCKADE.

Vessels Built Specially to Defy Federal Pursuit.

Some Exciting and Valuable Captures by the Union Blockading Fleets.

The vessels built for blockade running were built for the purpose. They were long, narrow, low side-wheel steamers, with sharp bows that cut the water like a knife, powerful engines, raking funnels, and two masts, rigged as schooners. The hull rose only a few feet above the water. They were painted a dull gray, so that even in the daytime it would be difficult to see them far away. The forward part of the deck was covered over, so that they could run through heavy seas. Before the war there was little commerce between England and the Bermuda Islands, but now the harbors were alive with ships—great sea-going steamers from England loaded with arms, cannon powder, goods of all kinds—returning to England freighted with cotton. The blocade runners brought the cotton from Wilmington and Charleston, delivered it to the large steamers, took on board the goods, arms and amunition, and steamed back to those ports, always planning to run past the blockade vessels in the night. When coming in all lights were put out, the steam was blown off under water. A man up in the "crow's nest" on the forward mast kept a sharp lookout for the Union vessels. The pilote knew every channel and sand bar. The vessels were all light dratt. The blockade runner was only a runner, not a fighter. If he came too close to a war ship he took to his heels. The runners were so swift, the war ships so slow, that they were rarely captured when the chase was a stern one.

It was a hard, exciting service which the blockading fleets endured. During the day the vessels cruised along the shores, looking into all the inlets, or sailing eastward to discover any approaching blockade runner, but at sunset they came close in-shore; almost under the guns of Fort Sumner at Charleston, or Fort Fisher at Wilmington. All lights were put out, except the one lantern at the masthead of the Commodore's vessel. Men were up in the rigging straining their eyes through the night to catch sight of the swift runners.

On an October night, 1863, the Venus from Nassau approached Wilmington. The lookout up at the masthead of the steamer Nasemond discovered her. Lieut. Lamson, commanding the Nasemond, when he had a duty to perform was always ready. The fires were blazing under his boilers—the steam was up. In an instant the Nansemond was away.

"Give her a shot!" he shouted. The long rifle guns flashed. The shot shattered the foremast of the Venus; another shot goes through her cabin; the third crashes through the forecastle, killing a sailor; the fourth strikes the hull below the water line. Bots vessels are fast, going fourteen knots an hour. The captain of the Venus sees that he cannot make the harbor and runs for the shore. She strikes hard and fast; the crew leap into the water and reach the sandy beach. The Nasemond lowers her boats and takes possession of the vessel. The Venus cannot be moved; she is set on fire and the Nasemond, at daylight, steams away.

"There she is!" The lookout of the Niphon shouted it at daybreak a few mornings later. Captain Breck, commanding the Niphon, saw a side-wheel steamer close in shore making for Wilmington Harbor. Another blockader was in pursuit. The Niphon was in position to intercept the runner—the Ella and Anna. The captain of the runner sees that he is cut off and he determines to run the Niphon down.

Captain Breck sees the situation. "Ready, boarders!" he shouts, and the sailors, who have been thoroughly drilled, seize their pistols and swords. The cannon of the Niphon send a shower of canister. The next moment there is a crash, and the bowsprit of the Niphon breaks like a pipestem. Over the rail swarm the boarders, and the next moment the Ella and Anna is theirs, with 300 cases of rifles and a cargo worth $118,000. The vessel is renamed the Malvern, and becomes one of the blockading fleet.

A great many blockade runners were captured and destroyed, but the profits were so enormous that others were built. The officers and crews were willing to run the risk of being captured for the high wages they received. A captain received $5,000 for each successful trip, each one of the crew $250, the chief engineer $2,500 and the pilot $8,700.

A little boy had his long curls cut off the other day, and was annoyingly reminded of the fact by the remarks of all his friends. Going with his family into the country, soon after his arrival he came running into the house in great sorrow, crying, Mamma, mamma, even the hens laugh at me. They all say 'cut-cut-cut, got your hair cut.'

Brain Power.

About the best use a farmer can make of himself is, to devote the present long winter evenings to an increase of his mental activity. Farms differ in their productiveness, mainly according to the amount of intelligence that is brought to their cultivation. Brain power may be increased by a thorough knowledge of the present condition of the farm, and its worth as a machine for making money. What crops have paid, and what have been raised and sold at a loss? What per cent has it paid on the capital invested? In the case of the gain, what secured it? Was it the manure applied, or the frequent tillage, or the extra amount of rainfall? In case of loss, was it the want of fertilizers, was the crop choked by weeds, or was the seed poor, and the crop damaged by late planting? This accounting for failures is as profitable as bragging over big crops, without making any record of the process of obtaining them. Brain-power may be increased by planning improvements. There may be several acres of peat-swamp or bog medow, producing only brush and bog hay, hardly worth cutting. There is a good outlet, and it can be drained three feet or more deep. Cipher out the cost of draining, and of making it produce three tons of clover or timothy to the acre. Would not the sight of the wavering heads of the grass be more pleasing than the cat-tails, flags and skunk cabbages, that now waste their sweetness upon the desert air? There may be an ace of swale, underlaid with hard-pan, over which ferns, weeds and aquatic grasses run riot during the whole summer. Is it not time the bottom was knocked out of it, by tiles laid three or four feet in the ground, and the superfluous water compelled to go out through those instead of creeping lazily over the surface? It can be made the best grass land on the farm. Why not make it so, and handle the dollars that come from maximum crops? Brain-power can be increased by reading and digesting the instructive contents of agricultural papers. They are full of facts, showing just how to do it, and the process is made so luminous with illustration, "that the wayfaring man, though a fool, cannot err therein."

Fun and Facts.

Words spoken in anger are sure to bring regret.

It is more noble to make yourself great than to be born so.

'What is laughter?' asks a philosopher. It is the sound you hear when your hat blows off.

Eva, noticing a flock of noisy, chattering blackbirds, said, 'Mamma, I guess they're having a sewing 'ciety.'

The sunbeam is composed of millions of minute rays: so home-light must be constituted of little tendernesses, kindly looks, sweet laughter, loving words.

Grace seeing her aunt write a message on a postal-card, called for an envelope, saying, 'I'm going to write a letter, too, Aunt Jane; but I don't want it to go bareheaded like yours.'

The aim of education should be to teach us rather how to think than what to think; rather to improve our minds so as to make us think for ourselves, than to load the memory with the thoughts of other men.

An eccentric man, living on a farm on the edge of Rhode Island, was very averse to taking life. When asked why he didn't slaughter his fat pig, he replied, 'I havn't the heart to kill it, for it seems so much like one of the family.'

'Professor,' said a student in pursuit of knowledge concerning the habits of animals, 'why does a cat while eating turn its head first one way and then another?' 'For the reason,' replied the Professor, 'that she cannot turn it both ways at once.'

An Irish judge had the habit of begging pardon on every occasion. One day as he was about to leave the bench, the officer of the court reminded him that he had not passed sentence of death on a prisoner as he had intended. 'Dear me!' said his lordship, 'I beg his pardon—bring him up.'

A Definition of Aristocracy.

'I like the Americans immensely,' said an Englishman who had been hospitably entertained in America. 'I like them immensely, but I miss something.' 'What is that?' asks his Yankee host. 'I miss the aristocracy,' replied the Englishman. 'What are they?' 'The aristocracy!' said the nobleman surprised. 'Why, they are people who do nothing, you know; whose fathers did nothing, you know; whose grandfathers did nothing, you know—in fact the aristocracy.' 'Oh,' said the American, smiling, 'we've plenty of them over here; but we don't call them aristocracy—we call them tramps.'

Worth	George B Williams,

G W RUMBERGER, Secretary. R M MAGEE, Chairman.

LEADING democrats are of the opinion that Mr. Manning's name will be found on the list of Cleveland's Cabinet on March 4th, for secretary of treasury.

JOHN KELLY, of New York, the Tammany chief, is in poor health. The election last fall must have been too much of a shock to his physical constitution. His sickness dates from that time.

SPAIN is anxious to have a hand in the Egyptian campaign. Spanish officers are continually offering their services and the Carlists are ready to furnish 4000 volunteers to fight the Mahdi.

TWO BILLS—one entitled "An act to regulate the taxation of Private Corporations for public purposes,"—the other "An act amendatory of the several acts relating to the assessment and valuation of Real and Personal Property for purposes of taxation"—have been presented to the legislature by Hon. Leonard Rhone, one of the able representatives from this county, and which if they become a law will do away with many of the abuses now existing in the taxation of the people and will more fairly distribute the burdens of government among all classes. The injustice of inflicting a comparitively much heavier tax upon the farmer and mechanic than on the rich corporations and stock holders will receive the death blow. We should therefore all feel sufficiently interested and actively aid our representative in having the proposed measures passed and made a law. One way to assist in this meritorious work would be to petition the legislature and write personal letters recommending and endorsing the matter to the several members of that body. We earnestly urge those of our readers who are particularly concerned and interested in equal taxation to lend their help in the way indicated. The matter presented in the bills is of vital importance to every taxpayer and we earnestly look for their passage.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

From our Regular Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 24, 1885.

Whatever difference of opinion there may be about the justice or the injustice of retiring General Grant, there is no small amount of sentiment in the country that points to the solemn conclusion that the Government has done all that it ought to do in the way of conferring favors upon the ex-President. I am inclined to think that some of Grant's predecessors in the Executive Chair, whose military services to the country were as valuable as his, should have some national recognition in the way of exaltation, and the fact that a grand-daughter of the author of the Declaration of independence is now living in comparative indigence right here in Washington City, should mantle the cheek of every Grant admirer in the country. The very graves of Jefferson, of Jackson, of Harrison and Taylor have received no mark of public appreciation of the services of these men through any action of Congress which favorably considers a proposition to invest a living ex-President with an exorbitant salary, after he has fully demonstrated his incapacity to take care of the wealth which has already been lavished upon him.

I can scarcely see why there should be so much ado over the composition of Mr. Cleveland's Cabinet. No President-elect in the last forty years has given even a sign of his intentions as to the formation of his Cabinet until the time of Inauguration. We all remember what a surprise Grant gave us by the announcement of his Cabinet on the afternoon of Inauguration Day in 1869. People knew who Mr. Washburn, for Secretary of State, was, and they knew who A. T. Stewart, as Secretary of the Treasury, was, but when it came to A. M. Borie, for Secretary of the Navy, not a man in Washington had ever heard of him, and nobody discovered his origin until it was found out that he had been making presents to the Grant family. It is not likely then that Mr. Cleveland is going to be so stupid as to make his Cabinet known an hour before the time comes for its necessity, and I furthermore firmly believe that he has not decided upon one single member so far as to invite him to a seat as one of the Presidential family.

The devices of Washington people for turning an honest penny are both numerous and ingenious. All along the line of Pennsylvania Avenue, through which Mr. Cleveland's inaugural procession will pass, the windows have been advertised for rent at prices ranging from ten to sixty dollars each for the day, while the indefatiguable Yankee has leased a lineal frontage the whole distance from the Capitol to the White House, projecting from four to ten feet from the building line, upon which stages and platforms are to be erected and seats thereon utilized at rates of one to ten dollars for each seat, with a brilliant prospect of a tremendous raise on the price by the 4th of March. All the best rooms at the best hotels were long since snapped up at prices that only a Washington hotel keeper knows how to exact, while all the halls and billiard rooms and restaurants [and possibly the churches] will be the temporary abiding place of many of the military organizations that will be unable to secure other quarters. A regiment from Philadelphia has already been given leave to bivouac in the corridors of the new State Department, while the famous Seventh Regiment would not come at all because of the want of sufficient room for its 980 scions of New York's best aristocracy. About twenty thousand dollars have thus far been contributed by the people of Washington to give Mr. Cleveland an unusual 4th of March send off, and the Inaugural Ball, for which about twelve thousand tickets have already been sold, will be just a little superior to anything of that particular character yet produced on this continent. The ball room for this occasion is the spacious court of the new Pension Office, and is of sufficient dimensions to allow four thousand people to dance to the music of four bands which will be so placed as to be out of hearing of each other. Mr. Cleveland will open the ball by joining in the opening quadrille, the music for which has been written expressly for the occasion by a Washington admirer. PHONO.

Miscellaneous News.

Milwaukee dispatches report Lake Michigan frozen solid from shore to shore.

Prices of windows in houses along the line of march from the Capitol to the White House, Washington, on inauguration day, are quoted as follows: Best window at best point on route for observation, $50; fourth story window, best point, $30, average price, $20, lowest for single window, $10.

FORTY MILES OF SOLID ICE.

WILKESBARRE, Feb. 18.—Another snow storm prevailed here this morning, the flakes falling to the depth of three inches. The Susquehanna river is frozen to the bottom, and is one solid mass of ice from Tunkhannock to Nanticoke, a distance of forty miles. Great fears are entertained that there will be an enormous freshet this spring, and that much damage will be done along the low lands of the Susquehanna.

THE MOST REMARKABLE CASE OF ALL.—A gentleman writes to us from Philipsburg, Centre Co., Pa., that his little girl was horribly afflicted with scrofula. Her body was full of sores ears discharging continually thick yellow purtrid matter, and her eyes so swollen and inflamed as to be almost blind. One Bottle McDonald's Blood Purifier has to all appearances entirely cured her. Our neighbors as well as ourselves consider the cure remarkable.

A bonafide case. The address of the family can be obtained from the editor of this paper.

MADE DESPERATE BY HUNGER.

Wildcats, which still abound in the secluded places along the Blue mountain ridge from the Susquehanna river at Dauphin to the Swatara gap, Lebanon county, are getting bold and venture out into the settlements during the cold weather. In the vicinty of the gap last Monday John A. Miller killed a full grown specimen weighing twenty five pounds, for the scalp of which the county officials paid him $2.50. Two others were shot in the same vicinity while raiding on hen roosts recently.

NO GRIPING, NO DRASTIC PURGING.—Take two or three of McDonald's Improved Liver Pills for the first dose and follow with one pill every night at bedtime. So quietly and surely will they correct a torpid or disordered liver and regulate the bowels, that you will feel like a new person by the time you have used one box. Money returned to dissatisfied buyers.

Corrected.

Miss Anna Johnson, of 24 Front street, Columbus, Ohio, says: "I suffered from an aggravated form of constipation and indigestion for several months. My family physician tried all kinds of medicines and pills, but to no effect. I began to think my case was a hopeless one. A friend of mine (Mrs. Elvira Redmond, of East Long street, this city), called, and seeing the condition I was in, recommended me to try your MANALIN. I must say I had but little faith in the medicine, but after I had taken a few doses I was convinced that MANALIN was the medicine for me. After I had taken one bottle I was entirely well of my complaint. I consider it one of the best remedies for constipation I have ever used. I have several friends who are using it. They think it an excellent remedy. I recommend it to all who are afflicted with constipation or indigestion. Any one doubting this statement is invited to call on me at 24 Front street."

Mr. Milton Knotts, Urbana, O., writes: "Last November one year ago I was taken sick, and called in our family physician. He examined me and said I had symptoms of typhoid fever. He gave me medicine for two weeks or more without any relief. I began to think that my days on earth were fast closing in. I saw at once that his medicine would not reach my disease. Just as I was about to conclude that I would have to die, my daughter brought me one of your pamphlets. I noticed a case whose symptoms were like mine, and PERUNA and MANALIN had cured him. I concluded at once to try it. I procured one bottle of PERUNA and one of MANALIN, and took them as directed, and before I had used the two bottles I began to receive strength and gain in flesh. I finished the rest of the two bottles and continued its use until the third bottle was used. When they were used I could eat anything I wanted to and go about my work. I consider that if it hadn't been for your PERUNA I would have been in my grave. Parties wishing information can write me at the above place. I recommend your medicine wherever I go."

Mr. John R. Davis, Moundsville, W. Va., writes: "I have been handling your PERUNA ever since its introduction. All who have used it speak highly of its curative properties. I consider it a reliable remedy."

Mr. George Fisher, Portsmouth, O., writes: "I am handling your PERUNA, and having a good trade on it. It gives splendid satisfaction."

A $20.00 BIBLE REWARD.

We will give $20.00 to the person telling us the longest verse in the Old Testament Scriptures by March 10th, 1885. Should two or more correct answers be received the reward will be divided. The money will be forwarded to the winner March 15th, 1885. Persons trying for the reward must send 20 cents in silver [no postage stamps taken] with their answer, for which they will receive the Monthly for April, in which the name and address of the winner of the reward and correct answer will be published, and in which several more valuable rewards will be offered. Address RUTLEDGE PUBLISHING COMPANY, Easton, Pa.

The use of Iodoform or Mercurials in the treatment of catarrh—whether in the form of suppositories or ointments—should be avoided, as they are both injurious and dangerous. Iodoform is easy detected by its offensive odor. The only reliable catarrh remedy in the market today is Ely's Cream Balm, being free from all poisonous drugs. It has cured thousands of chronic and acute cases, where all other remedies have failed. A particle is applied into each nostril; no pain; agreeable to use. Price fifty cents; of druggists. 7-4t

Frozen Stiff While Holding the Reins

CHICAGO, Feb. 20.—Just before 12 o'clock last Monday night, when the mercury was way below zero, the conductor of a street car on the Larrabee Street Line wished to stop the moving refrigerator at North avenue and rang the bell, but without effect. He stepped to the front platform to ascertain why the signal was not obeyed and found the driver standing motionless, but holding on to the lines. He spoke to the driver, but received no answer and then attempted to shake him, but found that he was as stiff as a statue. The man, who is known to his fellow-drivers as "John, from Kansas City," was unconscious, being in the heavy stupor which overcomes people who are freezing to death. He was taken into a store, thawed out and after an hour or so revived. Had he been exposed fifteen or twenty minutes longer he would doubtless have perished.

—WHEN your children are threatened with croup or whooping-cough, beware how you lull them to sleep with cough syrups whose principle ingredients are morphia or opium. The natural effort of the lungs to expel the suffocating mucus is coughing. Dr. Kessler's Celebrated English Cough Medicine contains no morphia or opium in any form, and by its stimulating actions on the kidneys, bowels, and pores of the skin, more than any other remedy, assists Nature in breaking up and expeling the worst colds from the system. A Young Woman Buried Alive.

SPRINGFIELD, W. Va. Feb. 12.—Mary Cox, a well known and popular young lady who lived near the mouth of the Little Capon river, was taken violently ill. The physician decided that she was suffering from neuralgia of the stomach and prescribed morphia. A dose was administered at once, and another left with instructions to give it in 24 hours. For some reason the second dose was given in a very short time. In an hour or two the death of Miss Cox was announced, and two days later the body was buried. At the funeral one lady insisted that Miss Cox was not dead, and begged that a physician be sent for. That night the dogs of a man living near the graveyard, stationed themselves near the tomb and kept up a persistent howling. The next day the grave was opened and to the horror of all, it was found that the girl had been buried alive. The lining was torn from the sides of the casket and the pillow was in shreds. The poor girl had literally stripped the clothes from her body. Her hands and arms were torn and bleeding, the lips were bitten through, and handfuls of hair was torn from her head. The girl had come to life, and had evidently made a fearful struggle to escape. The awful affair fills the community with horror.

Suicide of Howard Brickly.

From Philipsburg JOURNAL.

The report that a man had been found dead in bed at the Loyd House shortly after dinner, on Sunday, created an intense fever of excitement in our midst, and in a short time that hotel was the centre of attraction. Everybody that heard the report went there to see the remains, and to learn the particulars of the sorrowful affair. The unfortunate young man, who had thus suddenly been deprived of life, was Mr. Howard W. Brickley, traveling salesman for French, Richardson & Co., of Binghamton, N. Y., who had arrived in this place from Kylerton, about four o'clock on Saturday afternoon. After retiring for the night, that was the last known of the man until about 8 o'clock the following morning. At that hour the porter came down stairs and informed Mr. Row that he couldn't get any answer to his rap from the occupant of No. 13, but that the gentleman must be sleeping very sound, as he was snoring very loud. Nothing was thought of this, and the room was not visited again until noon; but when that hour came around, and the man was still in bed, fears began to be felt that something was wrong. The clerk went to the door, and after pounding for some time, and getting no reply from the interior, took his pen knife and managed to push out the key. Then taking another key he unlocked the door and went in. The man was found lying on his right side, his knees slightly drawn up, and his left hand concealing his mouth—dead, and that from an overdose of opium.

In response to a dispatch sent to Howard, Centre county, Pa., the home of the deceased, Messrs. Cook and Council came here and took charge of the remains, and conveyed them to Howard by way of the B. C., C. & S. W. Railroad Monday morning.

THE IRISH JAUNTING CAR.

There is no lack of roads in Ireland, and for the most part they are fairly good, though often extemely hilly. The car is on the whole excellently suited to them, and undoubtedly Bianconi, who introduced them, is one of the greatest benefactors of Ireland. Had the Irish been more punctilious in paying their debts, the Italian would have had his statue in every market town. I may remark in passing that he was originally a picture dealer in Clonmel, who, having seen the possibility of a fortune in the improvement of the communications, started the first of the cars from Clonmel to Cahir in the "Waterloo year." Queer stories are told of how he pushed his enterprise, particularly by getting up fictitious competition. The competition was carried rather far, when one of his drivers burst triumphantly into his office one day, begging half-a-crown of his honor to drink his honor's health, since "he had just bruck the heart of the brown mare" in the opposition conveyance by pushing her hard up the hill of so-and-so, the mare being, of course Bianconi's own.

The car, I repeat, is well adapted to the country; it is generally to be obtained on a few minutes' notice, and the drivers in default of relays, will take their passenger incredible distances. The man who drove me from Dunglow brought me on to Ardara from Glenties, where we had failed to find a change. I expressed a fear that I might be "planted" at Ardara should we be equally unfortunate there. "Sure, sir," said my friend, "and sooner than ye shall be bate I'll rowl ye on to Carrick myself, aye and to Killybege to the back of that." I may remark that the hills in some places were tremendous. Yet the Irish car has its obvious drawbacks. It shakes you even with tolerable springs on the smoothest roads, and where the roads are rough the jolting is terrible. It exposes one to the wind and the weather, though much may be gained by sitting the leeside. And, although seated either for four or six besides the driver, it will hardly carry more than two people with comfort if they have any quantity of luggage. When two share the expenses of a private car they are cheap enough. I have found the ordinary charge for posting to be 8d. per Irish mile; while the drivers seem generally to expect the other 4d. Indeed, they make themselves so agreeable that though the "tip" seems high it is difficult to grudge it them.—Cor. London Time.

MIDWINTER ADVERTISEMENT OF

Wm. Wolf & Son.

During this month our stock of winter goods must be reduced. Our space is limited and room must be made for Spring and Summer stock. To effect this we have concluded to reduce prices on such goods. We can not sacrifice first quality goods at the prices sometimes requested by customers, but we will do the very best we can and always guarantee that you will see that it was to your interest to buy.

Clothing we sell at cost, and some at half cost in order to sell out our entire stock. Overcoats, but one dozen left, good, not shelf-worn, at remarkably low prices.

All kinds of Rubber foot gear, a big stock. Rubber Boots worth $4 last year, now going for $2.75, and warranted at that.

Bed, Buggy and Sleigh Blankets at bargains. Men's and Boys' Caps, Gloves, Mittens, and Half-Hose. Ladies' Double, Single and Breakfast Shawls, Gloves, Mitts, Hosiery. All these offered cheap and at bargains. Try us and be convinced. We will do our best to please you.

Very Respectfully,

WM. WOLF & SON.

The eucalyptus, or Australian bluegum tree, is now grown in every civilized country almost were frosts do not occur, but being by nature adapted to act as an evaporating machine, it will not destroy malaria or keep off mosquitoes if planted in a dry and not in a marshy soil.

A chestnut at the foot of Mount Etna is believed to be the largest and oldest tree in Europe. It is hollow, and large enough to admit two carriages driving abreast to pass through it. The main trunk has a circumference of 212 feet. This grizzly giant is said to measure 92 feet in height.

Until lately most of the supply of sugar in Denmark was imported. Now the material for sugar is provided within the boundaries of the kingdom. Six years ago the Danes made 2,600,000 pounds of beet-root sugar, and four years later the figures rose to 8,600,000 pounds. The production of 1882 exceeded that of 1881 by fully 2,000,000 pounds.

Items of Interest.

Infant mortality in France is computed at from 20 to 23 per cent. of the population.

A Paris company has submitted to the Pope plans for lighting up the dome of St. Peter's at Easter ceremonies with electric burners.

Near Danbury stands a white oak tree that is thought to be 200 years old. It is more than 100 feet high, and the circumference at the first limb is 13 feet.

Italy has to keep 5,363 persons under sentence of penal servitude for life. Prison expenses are $2,000,000 a year more than those for education.

A recent estimate, made by means of a very intricate testing apparatus, places the rate at which an electric dot travels over a telegraph wire at 16,000 miles per second.

A clean and perfect copy of John Bunyan's "Pilgrim's Progess" 1678, has just been added to the British Mnesum library. Only three other copies are known, and but two of these are perfect.

The wife of the jailer, at Oconta, Wis., was left on guard and armed for the day with a pistol, which her son doubted she had the courage to discharge. He made a test by putting on a prisoner's costume and whooping at her.

There is little of interest now to be found in Elba, Napoleon's island prison. All the relics of his stay there were long since carried away, and the place has sunk into the insignificance from which his presence raised it temporarily. The population is rather over 20,000.

The fire engines in Italian cities are still the same little hand pumps used in the beginning of the century; not a single steam fire engine exists on the peninsula, owing to the rarity of fires, but a movement is now on foot to introduce steam engines according to the American style.

Dr. Spitzka says the popular delusion that the human eye has an influence over insane people similar to that claimed for the same organ over wild animals, is one that is often ridiculed by the insane themselves. He adds that whoever attempts to utilize the notion will recognize its absurdity.

A dealer in cod-liver oil in marseilles advertises that his fish are caught in a safe and quiet harbor, where marine monsters cannot enter to frighten them into diseases of the liver. "They live there," he says, "in peace and comfort; their livers are healthy, and this is the reason why my cod-liver oil is the best."

That the cars upon the rails of certain railroads creep has been a matter for complaint which every one has heard. It will be greater news to many to know that the rails on sleepers creep, too, in the direction of greater traffic. On the St. Louis bridge proper the rails have been known to creep 260 feet in one year, and on the bridge approach 400 feet.

It is said that the sand used in the manufacture of mirrors is now used by a Paris company to make white bricks and blocks, said not to be injured by frosts, rain, etc., and to be very light, the specific gravity being only 1.50 to 1.85 of clay bricks. The sand is first strongly pressed by hydraulic power, and then baked in ovens at a very high temperature. The bricks are almost pure silica.

"Old Moses" is the name of what is thought to be the largest tree in the world. It stands in a grove near Tule River, in California. Although the top is broken off, it is 240 feet high and 12 feet in diameter at the broken part. The hollow of the trunk will hold 150 persons, and is hung with scenes of California, is carpeted and fitted up like a drawing room, with table, chairs, and pianoforte.

It has been discovered by experiments with dogs placed under the influence of morphia even to coma, that the hypodermic injection of solution of theine, the active principle of tea, is an almost instantaneous antidote, neutralizing the effect of the narcotic, and reviving the animal, after the action of the heart has become imperceptible. Cafeine possesses similar properties, but is less immediate in its operation.

Fredericksburg, Virginia, lays claim to the distinction of being the burial place of Edward Heldon, a contemporary and one of the pall-bearers of the immortal Shakespeare. A red sandstone slab marked the grave in St. George's churchyard until it was misplaced by Burnside, who cut a road through the burial ground and removed the stone to the Masonic cemetery, where it now lies under a locust tree. It was in Fredericksburg that the mother of Washington lived after she became a widow and reared her family.

—Robert Miller was made happy last week by the arrival of a young son. Small as Bob is he feels twice as big over the joyful event.

—The ground-hog is getting charged with the present spell of "weather." If it's the fault of the ground hog the rascal ought to be shot.

—Landlord Frain, of the First National Hotel, received the contract for carrying the mail between Millheim and Coburn during 1885.

—Rev. B. Hengst preached his farewell sermon in the Ev. church last Sunday forenoon and Rev. Fox will follow suit next Saturday evening.

—The temperance lecture delivered by Rev. Baumgardner in the Ev. church last Sunday evening, is highly spoken of by those who went to hear it.

—Mr. Abs. Musser, of Haines township, expects to make sale of his live stock, farming utensils and household goods on Thursday, March 19th.

—To-day the newly elected members of the town council will be sworn into office. Shady will be a splendid looking magistrate. We make our bow.

—THE GREAT ZINGARI for toothache and neuralgia has no equal. Warranted. Only 15 cents at all drug stores. Sold by J. Eisenhuth, Millheim, Pa.

—Dr. A. W. Hafer, on Penn street, expects to make sale of some of his personal property, on Saturday, March 14th, preparatory to moving to Bellefonte on the first of April.

—We are sorrow to state that Mrs. Dr. Mingle is still confined to her sick bed. The lady has been suffering with pneumonia for the last three weeks. May health soon return to her.

—Sunday morning we had the coldest temperature on record for this winter. The thermometer at several places indicated 28 degrees below zero. Many people in this neighborhood reported things frozen in their cellars and houses. Everybody is anxious to have spring come.

—Mrs. Maria Stover, residing 2½ miles east of Aaronsburg, will make sale of her personal property on the premises, on Tuesday, March 24th, 1885.

—Mr. B. W. Shafer, of Miles township will make sale of his livestock and farming utensils, on his premises, near Wolfe's store, on Thursday, March 20th See posters.

WANTED. —A lot of Leaf Tobacco at D. S. Kauffman & Co's store, Millheim Pa. Persons replying to this notice by letter, will please state price and time of the crop.

—A musical convention, conducted by Mr. Jos. Kleckner, and commencing March 9th, will be held in the Evangelical church at Coburn. For partiulars see posters.

—Several bad errors found their way into the JOURNAL last week. Our typos failed to be as attentive to business as they should have been. Will do better in the future.

—At the late borough election in Bellefonte the democrats gained the upper hand by electing most of their candidates, among them Mr. John Powers for chief burgess.

NEWS FOR THE LADIES.—The finest and largest lot of Scrap Pictures ever brought to Millheim, just received at Deininger's JOURNAL STORE. Do not fail to come and see.

—Our former townsman, Mr. A. O. Deininger, at the recent election in Muncy Creek township, Lycoming Co., was elected Justice of the Peace. We offer our congratulations.

—The Reporter talks of electric lights as being the next improvement at Centre Hall. That town seems to be determined to have all the modern conveniences, and sets poor little Millheim entirely in the shade.

—The Kansas letter from Mr. T. G. Erhard, a former citizen of Haines township, published in another column is very interesting and contains valuable hints to persons wishing to emigrate to that section of the country.

—Henry Behm and Jeremiah Winkelblech, the administrators of the estate of Isaac Behm, late of Haines township, deceased, will offer at public sale on Friday, March 13th, the personal property of decedent. See Bills.

—A GRAND MUSICAL AND LITERARY ENTERTAINMENT will be given by the Ladies' Mite Society in the Reformed church at Aaronsburg, on SATURDAY EVENING, FEB. 28TH. The ladies of that society have been fortunate in securing for this occasion the popular and accomplished elocutionist, PROF. GEO. P. BIBLE, whose recitations and impersonations have been admirably received wherever he has appeared. His programme, embracing the serious, sentimental, dramatic and humorous, will be interspersed with music, consisting of instrumental and vocal solos and duets by the BRADLEY SISTERS, whose musical ability has won for them deserved applause and universal commendation.

The wonderful wood and straw instrument upon which Mr. Bible plays, accompanied by the piano is perhaps the greatest musical novelty before the public. Curious in construction and charming in tone is this wonder, the XYLOPHONE.

Proceeds of the entertainment will be applied to the furnishing of the new Reformed church. Aid the worthy cause by your attendance. Doors open at 7, entertainment commences at 7.30. General admission 25 cents, children 15 cts.

—THE horrible nauseous worm-seed vermifuges and worm syrups have had their day. It's downright cruelty to compel a child to take them when McDonald's Celebrated Worm Powders are so easy and pleasant to take that children take them and never know a medicine is being administered. Can be procured at any drug store for the small sum of 25 cents.

Sold by J. Eisenhuth, Millheim, Pa.

—James D. Lose on Penn street, sold his property to Squire Reifsnyder the other day, and in exchange bought a lot from him on the eastern side of the street, nearly opposite his present property. He expects to put up a house this spring.

—Two good woolen bed blankets were stolen at D. S. Kauffmans & Co's store last Saturday evening. The parties who committed the theft are known to the proprietors and are warned to return the goods, otherwise they will get into trouble.

—If you expect to go away on a trip, or have any visitors, or any other information, please let us know, either verbally or by writing, and we will be glad to give it mention in the JOURNAL. Items of this kind go to make up a newsy local paper.

—Herbert, the youngest son of Mr. Wm. Smith, residing south of town, was confined to a bed of sickness since last Saturday. A bad cold caused the trouble and his condition for a while was by no means good. We are glad to see him convalescent again.

READ.—The undersigned give notice that they will operate the Lime and Cement Kiln on North street by the first of March, and will constantly keep on hand the best quality of Lime, Cement, Flour, Feed, Plaster, &c. Public patronage respectfully solicited.
MCMULLEN & STRUNK.

—Mr. Ralph M. Musser, who has been in charge of Griffee & Co.'s flour mill at White Deer Mills for several years, last week accepted a similar position at Beach Haven, Luzerne Co., Pa., at an increased salary. We are glad to see this good fortune to friend Musser.—Lewisburg Journal.

—We call the attention of our readers to the new advertisement of Theodore Deshner, proprietor of the Great Central Gun Works, Bellefonte, Pa. That enterprising gentleman keeps a complete line of guns, fishing tackle and musical instruments. Sportsmen and musicians will do well to give him a call when in Bellefonte. He is an obliging salesman and always tries to please his customers.

—Miss Mary Moyer, of Freeburg, arrived in town on Friday evening to take an active part in the musical convention. The lady is an accomplished soprano singer and delighted the audience at both concerts by some well-rendered songs. It was her first visit to Centre county and she expressed herself pleased with this part of the country and its people.

—The result of the election in the southern precinct of Gregg township having reached us too late for insertion last week, we give the same below:

Justice of the Peace, S. J. Hering; Constable, R. Kline; Judge of Election, T. B. Jamison; Inspector, Henry Mark; Supervisors, James P. Grove, Jno. F. Heckman; Assessor, John P. Condo; Overseer, Wm. Goodhart; School Directors, M. L. Rishel, Geo. B. Crawford; Auditor, W. B. Bitner; Town Clerk, J. C. Condo.

—Read the following items referring to Prof. Geo. P. Bible, of Bellefonte, the celebrated elocutionist, who will render some of his best selections at the Aaronsburg entertainment next Saturday evening and remember that "straws tell which way the wind blows."

Prof. Geo. P. Bible, a graduate of the Philadelphia School of Elocution and Oratory, attended our Teachers' Institute, last week, and was the very soul and life-blood of the Institute. Abstract mathematics, dull grammar and peculiar forms of government, &c., &c., were interspersed with drama, tragedy and comedy well rendered.

Mr. Bible is a modest unpretentious young man who has been the architect of his own fortune for which he deserves credit and encouragement. We wish him success.—Middleburg Post.

The entertainment given by Mr. G. P. Bible at the Opera House last evening was exceedingly well attended by an audience that was entirely en rapport with the gentleman giving the entertainment. He was listened to with the greatest attention from first to last, and the audience was highly pleased. Mr. Bible certainly possesses all the elements of a first class elocutionist and is especially at home in serious and sentimental pieces as well as those of a comic nature.—Northern Indianian.

IN MEMORIAM.—It is our sad duty to announce the death of Mrs. Harriett Keen, the wife of Mr. Henry Keen, of Penn township, which occurred on Friday forenoon at her residence, two miles west of Millheim. The subject of this notice had been ill the greater part of the winter and suffered many physical pains before she was called to that silent home from which no one ever returns. She was a daughter of Mr. John Harter, of Gregg township and was married to Mr. Keen in the year 1851. She was a true and devoted helpmate to her husband, a loving mother to her children and a kind and obliging lady to her neighbors. When death cast its shadows over her, she humbly submitted to the inevitable. The surviving family experiences great sorrow in this their affliction, in which they have the sincere sympathy of the community. The deceased will be remembered with high esteem by all who knew her.

"Requiescat in Pace."

The funeral took place on last Tuesday forenoon, when her remains were interred in the Reformed cemetery, Aaronsburg. Services were held in the Reformed church, conducted by Rev. Z. A. Yearick.

THE CONVENTION. — Last week's convention in the Ev. church was in a general sense a successful affair. In the last few days there was a considerable increase of singers and when the time for the concerts had come the class numbered about sixty. The best talent in town was represented assisted by good musicians from other places and under the able direction of Prof. P. H. Meyer the choruses, quartettes, &c., were executed in an admirable manner. The concerts on Friday and Saturday evenings were voted fine treats by all who attended them.

Prof. Lowell Meyer deserves marked credit for his excellent performances and much of the success of the concerts was due to his valuable help. Among other pleasing songs Prof. Lowell Meyer rendered several Irish dittys as original as if he had come fresh from the Emerald Isle.

Prof. Kurzenknabe as organist acquitted himself in his usual masterly style and his skillful playing greatly aided the conductor in his week's work.

The concert on Saturday evening was especially good and the building was well filled with spectators, all of whom seemed well entertained. Rev. B. Hengst on this occasion made a few appropriate remarks which were much appreciated by his attentive audience. All concerned feel that they have spent a pleasant week together and we cheerfully sustain Rev. Hengst in his wish to have it repeated at least once a year.

The net proceeds amounted to $29.1 which will be applied to the Town Clock fund.

—Last Monday evening a singing class was organized in the Evangelical church, to be instructed by Prof. H. J. Kurzenknabe, for a term of twelve lessons. The class will meet twice a week, Monday and Saturday evenings. Prof. Kurzenknabe also proposes to start a juvenile class, to be taught on the same days in the afternoon. Persons wishing to receive thorough rudimental instruction in vocal music would do well to join the adult class and parents are invited to send their children to the juvenile class.

Letter from Kansas.

Likely some of you people intend coming west next summer, to see the country. To all such it will be a great help to acquaint themselves as much as possible, with different and desirable localities before starting. By writing to the agents of R. R. Co., in the northern and central portions of Kansas, a pretty highly colored description of their lands may be obtained. But as southern Kansas has no R. R. land grants, information must be had from other sources. To supply such is the object of this letter. Sumner county is in the southern tier of counties, the much talked of Cherokee strip and Oklahoma borders it on the south. It is one of the largest counties in the State, as well as the best. In proof of the last assertion the reader is referred to the last report of the State Board of Agriculturel of Kansas. The following facts are taken from the same:

'Sumner county has more hogs, more mules, more fruit trees, more school houses and more miles of Railroad than any other county in the State, only one county sold more pork and beef, only two raised more wheat and corn combined, only three have a larger assessed valuation of property and population and only four have more cattle. All this has been accomplished in fourteen years, Clover, Timothy, Blue grass and Orchard grass do well and in a few years thousands of acres will be put into these grasses, then it will take front rank in cattle.'

Do not take anything for granted but come and see for yourselves. There are a number of men in your parts, in fact all over the East, possessed of a few acres of land, worth from two to five thousand dollars, tenant farmers also whose stock and savings would amount to the same. All such would do well to come and look at the first county in Kansas.

Prices of farm products rule somewhat as follows: Wheat is generally about 20cts less than eastern quotations, Corn starts at about 20cts when the new crop comes in, and gradually goes up to 30 cts. per bushel, however, by judicious feeding, either hogs or cattle, 40cts may be realized, some even claim 50cts. The yield of wheat may be anywhere between 15 or 40 bushels per acre, that of corn from 25 to 70 bushels shelled. Hogs sell from $3 50 to $6.00 per hundred, live weight. Cattle about the same. The lowest paid for Butter, the past year, was 12½ cts. per lb., the highest 30 cts., the lowest paid for eggs was 15 cts, the highest 30 cts. per dozen. Live poultry $2.50 to $3.00 per dozen, dressed 6 to 8 cts. per lb. Groceries and dry-goods are about the same as in the East. The same may be said of farm implements.

The working season for the farmer begins with March and ends with the middle of December with the exception of corn husking that lasts most all the year. The winters are not very long but sometimes quit severe and it is no waste to provide fodder to last four or five months. This section is not Paradise nor any ways near it, yet, few come here to settle and then turn their faces eastward. Lumber ranges from $20 to $35 per M., and buildings that are called very good here cost but a trifle more than one of the same size would in Pennsylvania. Better shelter for man and beast are sadly wanting as well as the thrifty saving habits of the Eastern farmer.

A new Court house at Wellington has just been completed and paid for at a cost of sixty-five thousand dollars. This with the building of two or three iron bridges, made the taxes exceptionally high this year, about forty dollars on an average improved quarter section. This is double what it was in former years. Land sells from ten to fifty dollars per acre, owing to improvements and nearness to R. R., or county seat. Study these figures closely and compare with any other section in the west and then determine for yourselves the locality for you to strike.

Rebersburg Locals.

Rev. Baumgardner delivered an able lecture on "Temperance" in the Ev. church on Friday evening. His audience was well pleased.

C. O. Mallory moved the house he bought from Thos. Zeigler to Smoketown, where he proposes to build during spring.

Ex-Constable Hackman had another runaway on Saturday evening, while on his way to Madisonburg. His horse became immanageable, ran off and passing several sleds, struck one. That horse in turn scared and both took to running and demolished the sleighs.

William Taylor, of Unionville, Pa., is visiting at Hon. H. Meyer's.

All, apparently, seem pleased with the result of the election, especially the successful ones. Boz.

Madisonburg News.

Two of Luther B. Stover's horses died last week. Both had received injuries in the back.

Jackson Ocker moved into his house in town. It was lately vacated by John Grimm.

Geo. Hazel expects to move to his brother Jacob W. Hazel.

Wm. Hackman, of Rockville, while on his way to this town last Saturday evening, had quite a time of it. His horse ran off and made pieces of the sleigh.

Samuel Nathan, colored, is dangerously ill at this writing.

Rev. A. S. Baumgardner's temperance lecture in the Evangelical church last Saturday evening pleased nearly everybody, except probably those who like the vile stuff.

A Strictly Cash Store

Where goods are bought and sold

---FOR CASH---

Believing that the people of Centre county are fully awake to their best interests and that they have the intelligence to comprehend and the courage to recognize the means best calculated to bring about the most desirable results, we would most confidently and earnestly submit the following for your careful consideration:

That king credit has slain its victims by the thousands upon its extended battle fields is a fact beyond successful contradiction, and we would only ask you to call to your recollections your own observations, in proof of this fact, and, the pitiful appeals of those still under the crushing heel of the tyrant fall upon our ears with unmistable certainty and we would say, come, let us rush to their rescue by wielding the sword of justice and striking the monster down with a decisive blow and keeping him there by eternal vigilance. This can be done only by a system which pays as well as demands CASH on delivery.

This system we will adopt and put into operation on the twenty-sixth day of December 1884, after which we will buy and sell positively for cash and produce only and will name such figures on goods as will fully convince every intelligent person that it is to their interest to buy their goods where KING CREDIT finds no quarter, but where the is radically and permanently established and strictly adhered to. Kindly inviting and soliciting the co-operation of every one in giving this system a thorough trial, we are Never go Empty-Handed.

I learnt this capital bit of advice long ago. A dear old aunt said it to some one else, when I was near, and I remembered it. You cannot think how useful the hint has been, nor how much trouble and time it saves me.

Just notice what it is we all do from morning to night. Why, we take things out of their places and put them in again,—if we are tidy people, that is! We cannot help doing this. The pots and pans, the cups and saucers, and plates and dishes, must be taken out and used many times daily. Then came the washing up and setting to rights. It is so with our books and clothes, and all we have. Well, then, there must be always something for ready hands to carry up or down. It is a great help in a house if we make it a rule to look round the room, and never go empty-handed.

This may be a new thought to some of you. Try to act on it for one day, and see if it is not as useful as oil on a rusty wheel. The work gets done like magic in houses where all help father and mother, and try to save them fatigue. Won't mother's dear eyes brighten when she sees you trying; and won't father be pleased when you save him journeys up and down by recollecting our wise maxim!

And when you go to see a sick friend or a poor neighbor, take something. A sweet flower, or a comforting text neatly written by yourself, will make sunshine. If you are really wanting to do good, look up and say often, "Lord help me:" and soon your heart will be as useful and busy as your hands. Only try.—A. M. V., in Friendly Greetings.

What He Got by It.

Showing That it is not Good Policy to Doubt a Man's Word.

'Come mighty nigh killin' a fine buck dis mawnin',' said an old negro.

'Comin' long through de woods an' er old buck he jump up an' bookerty, bookerty he runs off a few yards an' stop still. Come in one er shootin' him sah.'

'Why didn't you shoot?'

'Didn' hab my gun wid me, sah.'

'Then how did you come within one of shooting him?'

'Case, sah, I come in one o' takin' my gun wid me.'

'Why didn't you take your gun?'

'Didn' hab none, sah.'

'You are an old fool.'

'Look heah, doan 'buse er man dat way, when yer ain' got no cause. I ain't got no gun, fur a fellow dat wuz erbout to buy one frum axed me jes' one dollar mo'n I could pay. So, I come in one o' gettin' de gun. Ef I had er got it I would er tuck it 'long wid me, an' ef I'der had it I could er shot de buck easy, sah. So doan come 'roun' 'busin' er man when de facks is all ergin yer. I hab knowed folks ter fetch trouble on dar 'selves dat way. Er pusson ought-er be keerful in dis heah worl' o'science an' speckerlation. Good mawnin,' sah. Since yer's acted dis way, I wouldernt gin yer none o' de meat ef I had er killed it. 'Fore yer talked dat way I woulder made yer present o' some o' de buck. See whut yer got by it, sah.'—Arkansaw Traveler.

The Woes of a Bashful man.

'You d-don't know how b-b-bashful I am,' he murmured; 'The gals just worrit the life outen me. When I stood up to be married, they all giggled, and when the minister asked me if I'd take this woman to be my wedded wife, I said I was 'purty well, thankee, and when he pronounced us man and woman, and said 'whom God hath joined together let no man rip apart,' I broke down and bawled. Oh! it was horrible! But that's nothing to what's to come. 'Bout 'leven o'clock the old man sez, sez he, 'John, your room's head o' the stairs.' I was so skeered that when I tried to stan' up my legs gin way, and I fell over the dog and got bit in three places. I waited till everybody 'd gone to bed then I crawled up stairs like a spoon thief. I was 'fraid to go in, so I sat on the stairs and shivered. 'It's no use,' sez I, 'what's got to be, hez;' so I shucked of my clothes out in the dark and shet my eyes. Then I made a break for the door. I found the bed and pulled the clothes over my head an' laid on the front rail. In the mornin' I peeked through my fingers to see if I could dress and git away 'fore she woke up, and hang me far a pirate if I wa'nt in bed with the old man and old woman. Oh, I can't go back. I can't—I can't,' and the poor thing wept afresh.

Had Him Foul.

'Say, mister, do you want your valise carried?' asked a street urchin running after a man going down Fourth street with a valise in his hand.

'No, I don't,' answered the man with a snarl.

'I'll carry it to the depot for a dime,' persisted the boy.

'I don't want it carried, I tell you,' said the man, hurrying along.

'Don't you?'

'No, I don't.'

'Well, mister, what the dickens are you caryin' it for? Why don't you set it down?'

Live for Something.

Thousands of men breathe, move and live—pass off the stage of life and are heard of no more. Why? They did not a particle of good in the world; and none were blessed by them, none could point to them as the instruments of their redemption; not a line they wrote, not a word they spoke could be recalled, and so they perished, their light went out in darkness, and they were not remembered more than the insects of yesterday. Will you thus live and die, O man immortal?—Live for something. Do good and leave behind you a monument of virtue that the storm of time can never destroy. Write your name by kindness, love and mercy, on the hearts of the thousands you come in contact with year by year, and you will never be forgotten. No, your name, your deeds, will be as legible on the hearts you leave behind, as the stars on the brow of evening. Good deeds will shine as brightly on the earth as the stars of heaven.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhœa, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. MRS WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING is pleasant ao the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle.

Travelers are, as a rule, of an inquiring mind, and not a few are facetiously disposed. One of this latter class, alighted from his gig one evening at a country inn, was met by the hostler, whom he thus addressed:

"'Young man, immediately extricate that tired quadruped from the vehicle, stabulate him, devote to him an adequate supply of nutritious ailment; and when the aurora or morn shall again illuminate the oriental horizon, I will reward you with a pecuniary compensation for your amiable and obliging hospitality.'

The youth, not understanding a single word of this, ran into the house, crying out, 'Master, come at once. Here's a Dutchman wants to see you.'

'Look here!' called a man, pressing his face against the grates of the city prison and addressing a policeman who stood outside.

'Well?'

'What was I put in here for anyway?'

'You'll find out when the police court meets.'

'Podner, I am a very sensitive man, and the thought that I have committed a crime hauts me. I just tell you whats a fact, I can't stand it. What did I do?'

'Well, if you must know, you got drunk and shot a man.'

'Oh, is that all? I was afraid that I had insulted some one. Much obliged.'

A very homely man, finding his little nephew crying one day, said to him: 'Johnny, you shouldn't cry; it will make you look homely as you grow older.' The little fellow gazed earnestly at the speaker for a moment, and then said solemnly: 'Uncle you must have cried a great deal when you were a little boy.'

DR. JOHN BULL'S

Smith's Tonic Syrup

FEVER and AGUE

Or CHILLS and FEVER,

AND ALL MALARIAL DISEASES.

The proprietor of this celebrated medicine justly claims for it a superiority over all remedies ever offered to the public for the SAFE, CERTAIN, SPEEDY and PERMANENT cure of Ague and Fever, or Chills and Fever, whether of short or long standing. He refers to the entire Western and Southern country to bear him testimony to the truth of the assertion that in no case whatever will it fail to cure if the directions are strictly followed and carried out. In a great many cases a single dose has been sufficient for a cure, and whole families have been cured by a single bottle, with a perfect restoration of the general health. It is, however, prudent, and in every case more certain to cure, if its use is continued in smaller doses for a week or two after the disease has been checked, more especially in difficult and long-standing cases. Usually this medicine will not require any aid to keep the bowels in good order. Should the patient, however, require a cathartic medicine, after having taken three or four doses of the Tonic, a single dose of BULL'S VEGETABLE FAMILY PILLS will be sufficient.

BULL'S SARSAPARILLA is the old and reliable remedy for impurities of the blood and Scrofulous affections—the King of Blood Purifiers.

THE GOVERNMENT ENDORSES

The Ameican Agriculturist.

FROM THE TENTH CENSUS, VOL. 8, JUST PUBLISHED

"The American Agriculturist is especially worthy of mention, because of the remarkable success that has attended the unique and untiring efforts of its proprietors to increase and extend its circulation. Its contents are duplicated every month for a German edition, which also circulate widely."

This Tribute is a pleasing incident in the marvellous nearly

HALF A CENTURY

Career of this recognized leading Agricultural Journal of the world.

What it is To-Day.

Six months ago the American Agriculturist entered upon a new career of Prosperity and to day it is far superior to any similar periodical ever produced in this or any other country. Richer in editorial strength; richer in engravings; printed on finer paper, and presenting in every issue 16 columns of original reading matter from the ablest writers, and nearly 100 illustrations. Dr. George Thurber, for nearly quarter of a century the editor in chief of the American Agriculturist, Joseph Harris, Byron D. Halsted, Col. M. C. Weld, and Andrew S. Fuller, the other long time Editors, together with the other writers who have made the American Agriculturist what it is to day, are still at their post.
